Learn and Network with International Experts

In a constantly changing world, veterinary professionals need to constantly get updated to be able to adequately care for the growing animal community living side by side with humans. The need for quality education has never been higher.

The IVETC 2023 International Veterinary Congress was created to meet that need.

IVETC 2023 will bring together international experts in veterinary medicine and provide a unique platform for high-end education and networking. Participants from all career levels will receive valuable tools to help advance their practice and stay up to date with the latest developments in the field.

The IVETC 2023 scientific programme will offer various activities that combine education and networking, with a focus on hands-on learning and demos. You will have the opportunity to attend interactive sessions, case presentations, Meet the Expert sessions, live demos, best practices and more.

We invite you to join us in Hong Kong on 4-6 July 2023!
